Brief description of the importance of the film to your national heritage:

The film is unique in its remote and hieratic style. The beauty of its image and visual rhythm reflect the majesty of its theme, a nation recovering its identity as it discovers its history. The "Mummy" was released to international critical acclaim. Prizes and awards showered down upon it, and it was singled out almost everywhere it was shown. On the Centenary of the Egyptian Cinema 2007, the film was selected as the best film by Egyptian Critics. I hereby authorize FIAF to distribute this information through its website. FIAF archives are authorized to contact me on a volunteer basis for the restoration of this film.
