

2020 FIAF/Cinémathèque française Programming Winter School

GENERAL INFORMATION

Dates

Monday 2 and Tuesday 3 March 2020 (two full days).

Location

The training will take place at the Cinémathèque française in Paris.

Presentation of the course

For the fifth year in a row, FIAF and the Cinémathèque française are joining forces to offer a short training course aimed primarily at professionals in FIAF archives and beyond. The theme of this specialized course is “Programming Film Heritage” and will once again be taught by experienced professionals from our sector, most of them programmers in film archives affiliated to FIAF. The course will take place at the Cinémathèque française on Monday 2 and Tuesday 3 March 2020 (two full days), just before the start of Toute la mémoire du monde, the International Festival of Restored Film hosted by the Cinémathèque française (4-8 March 2020).

Following the success of the first four Winter Schools, the organizers thought that there was still a lot to discuss and learn about the topic of programming film heritage, and that a fourth course could introduce topics not or little covered before, as well as explore further those already covered in the last three years. Topics this year will include programming specialized collections, programming new cinémathèques; audience development, the challenges of subtitling, and our usual strand of “portraits of experienced programmers”. We will give the students the opportunity to exchange with one another and with the trainers. We believe that this new course can be of interest both to students who already attended past Winter Schools, and to new ones.

The course will be taught in French and in English, and simultaneous translation will be provided for all sessions. A completion certificate will be handed to students at the end of the training.

Lecturers

The classes will be taught by programming experts from (mainly) the global network of FIAF archives. The full programme of this year’s edition is available in ENGLISH and in FRENCH on the FIAF website.

Fee

The registration fee will be 140€ (169.40€ inc. VAT) per person for employees of FIAF-affiliated institutions and registered students, and 180€ (217.80€ inc. VAT) for all others.
