

2nd FIAF/Cinémathèque française Winter School : Programming Film Heritage

GENERAL INFORMATION

Date

Monday 27 and Tuesday 28 February 2017 (two full days).

Location

The training will take place at the Cinémathèque française in Paris.

Presentation of the course

For the second year in a row, FIAF and La Cinémathèque française are joining forces to offer a short training course aimed primarily at professionals in FIAF archives. The theme of this specialized course is "Programming Film Heritage", and will be once again taught by professionals from our sector, most of them programmers in film archives affiliated to FIAF.

The training will take place just before Toute la mémoire du monde, the International Festival of Restored Film hosted by La Cinémathèque française (1-5 March 2017). Following the success of the first Winter School last February, the organisers thought that there was still a lot to discuss and learn about the topic of programming the film heritage, and that a second course could introduce programming ideas and themes not or little covered in the first one, as well as explore further those already covered last year. Taking into account the feedback provided by the last batch of students, we aim to offer this year a more balanced combination of theoretical lectures and more "hands-on", practical sessions such as programming workshops. Students will also have more opportunities to exchange with one another and with the trainers. We believe that this new course can be of interest to both students who already attended the first Winter School, and new ones. A completion certificate will be handed in to students at the end of the training.

Note that students of the Winter School will be entitled to attend the Symposium on "The Future of Cinephilia: Cinémathèques and New Audiences" organised by the CNC and hosted by the Cinémathèque française on 1 March, as a coda to the Winter School's discussions on programming.

Languages

The course will be taught in French and in English and simultaneous translation will be provided for all the sessions.

Lecturers

The classes will be taught by programming staff of the Cinémathèque française as well as many other experts from other FIAF archives. The full programme of the two days is now available on the FIAF website.

Fee

The registration fee will be 135.00€ (163.35€ inc. VAT) per person for staff members of FIAF-affiliated institutions. A number of places will be reserved for non-FIAF professionals (fee: 175.00€, or 211.75€ inc. VAT) and students (fee: 150,00€, or 181.50€ inc. VAT). Registrations will be accepted on a first-come-first-served basis. Note that this fee includes:

- Lunch on both days of the Winter School, and refreshments throughout the training,
- Free access to all festival screenings and events (except the Masterclass, the closing cine-concert, and the special "Joe Dante" night) on the premises of the Cinémathèque française from 1-5 March 2017 (subject to availability), including the Symposium on "The Future of Cinephilia: Cinémathèques and New Audiences" organised by the CNC on 1 March (further information to follow shortly),
- Registration for the Orphan Film Symposium on 2-4 March at the Cinémathèque française at a preferential rate (advance bookings only).

Participants are expected to make their own travel and accommodation arrangements, but a list of nearby hotels and travel information is available upon request.

Registration

Registrations are now open. The new deadline for registrations is Friday 10 February 2017. To register, please fill in this form and email/fax it to the FIAF Secretariat. Please note that registrations are only confirmed once your payment has been received.
